New Series of the CONGRESSIONAL GLOVE AND AMPENDIX.

THE indersigned originated the moc of journalizing the proceedings of Congress, which presented them entire. Their publication was the first and only one that gave each encressive tep in every measure in both branches of Congress a brief of all the debates; every important vote; and an Appendix, including at full length all the revised speeches delivered during the session. The work thus conducted by them is a most perfet political history. The Senators from the States and the Representatives from every section of the Union bring with them into Congress a knowlege of the feelings, sentiments and interests of this everal constituencies. Public opinion and the public information, as it exists among those they represent are embodied by them; and in the cruerbe of Congress the wisdom of our times is broughtto its test, and is there concentrated in directing te political movements of the whole country. The impulses thus given through Congress from every warter reacts upon the nation as a whole, and al its component parts made to move in co-operation. The press cannot be more usefully employed than in condensing and again spreading abroad the ittelligence of our free country, tending to such hapty results through our almost miraculously adjusted State and National institutions.

Having identified ourselves with the plas of advancing the ast tea years, which would be impaired in value to us and utility to the public if the work were discontinued, we have no double motive to pompt us to extend it through a new series. We are resolved if possible to give it permanence, and to hand it down to successors as a stendard work, worthy of being maintained and improved. We shall entrupon our new undertaking without being distracted or burdened by any associate labors of the press; and, thus unencumbered, shall hope to make the new series a step in advance of the former in all points of execution. With a view to accomplish this, we shall te (one of the other) always in attenda ance in Congress—will compare the manuscript of our own reporters with the daily report of the city papers—correct all by our own observation and knowledge of the proceedings; and in important matters, where that will not assure us of the fidelity of the reports, we will procure the aid of the members themselves, to obtain the exact scope of their remarks. The work, thus authenticated, will be stereotyped, which is a guaranty that we will make it as perfect as it is possible for us to make it, as we would not incut the expense of stereotyping it, if we did not feel confident of its superiority over all works of the kind which have been or are likely to be published. Stereotyping the work will enable us to supply lost or mutilated numbers, which we will do, without making any charge for them.

The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two Houses of Congress. The speeches of the members are condensed, to bring them into a readable length. All the resolutions offered, or motions made, are given in the mover's own words; and the yeas and nays on all the important questions. It is printed with small type—brevier and nonpareti—on a double royal sheet, in quarto form, each number containing sixteen royal quarto pages.

The Appendix is made up of the President's an-speeches of members of Congress, written out or revised by themselves. It is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe, and usually makes about the same number of pages.

We print the numbers as fast as the proceedings of Congress furnish enough matter for a number.—
During the first month or six weeks of a session, there is rarely more business done than will make one number of the Congressional Globe and one number of the Appendix a week; but during the remainder of a session there is usually sufficient matter for two or three numbers of each every week. The next session will be a long one, and it is supposed will be unusually interesting; therefore we calculate that the Congressional Globe and Appendix will each make near one thousand large quarto pages, printed in small type—brevier and nonpateil. We furnish complete indexes to both at the end of a session.

reil. We furnish complete indexes to both at the end of a session.

We have on hand the Congressional Globe and Appendix for the last twelve sessions of Congress, of which five were long and seven were short sessions. The Congressional Globe and Appendix for each session are bound together in excellent binding, with Russia backs and corners. Our prices for them, thus bound together, are $3 a volume for a short, and $5 a volume for a long session, making $46 for a tull set. Those who want the back volumes should apply for them immediately, as they are in demand. The last Congress subscribed for two hundred and twenty-six sets, and it is probable that the next will subscribe for at least as many more, as the proceedings of Congress for the last more, as the proceedings of Congress for the last eight years cannot be precured from any other source, Gales & Seaten having stopped printing their Register of Debates in 1837. A few hundred copies of the first volume is all we have on hand.

The next session of Congress will be a long one, and, therefore, the Congressonal Globe and Appendix should be $2 for the session, which is the price we charge for the unbound numbers of the past long sessions; but we have concluded to reduce the price, as follows, until the first day of next January, after which time the Congressional Globe and Appendix will each be $2 for the session, and no deduction will be made on account of the number of copies taken.
